

TAMARISK

The Romans called this plant Tamarix, because it used to grow on Tamari's riverbanks, in Tarraconesa Province, 2500 years ago. The Scientist decided to call it with this name for this reason. The common name is Tamarisk.

The wood of the tree Tamarix is used as fuel, and his branches are used to manufacture ropes, which are very usefull to practice sports like climbing.

This plant is very common in saline soils and streams where the climate is dry and hot. Here, in Chiclana, we can see it in the park "El Campito".
